

Date: Jun 10, 2014; Section: Street Watch; Page: 15

Lucrative hunt for cash prize

LANGFORD

COMMUNITY members aged from eight to 73 took part in Langford Aboriginal Association's Hunters and Gatherers competition.

The event, part of the association's Beat It! Live Longer health program, involved 16 teams vying for a $500 cash prize by taking part in a treasure-hunt style competition.

Winning team North and South got a near-perfect score on the hunt, which led contestants through questions and clues at Gosnells landmarks such as the Agonis clock tower, Pioneer Park gardens, council building, markets and railway station.

The winning North and South team: Mark Ditcham and nephew Max McMaugh, of Perth (back row); Emily Button and her children Ciahn and Corey Button, of Halls Creek (front row).